Prospect Hts. Civic Groups To Consider Incorporation

Democrats Expect Stavros To Resign; McCabe 'Most Likely to Succeed'

By Larry Willis

Members of 10 Prospect Heights civic associations are scheduled to meet tonight to take a long hard look at possible incorporation.

Prospect Heights, the largest incorporated community in Illinois, is currently besieged with fire, police, and sanitary service problems which have caused the civic associations to meet tonight to form a council of associations.

"We want to give serious consideration to having a council," Thomas Kelly, president of the Euclid Latin Civic Association, said.

"We want to determine what benefits and costs there might be in incorporating Prospect Heights," after gathering this information, Kelly said, "it will be taken to the people of Prospect Heights for them to decide."

be the presidents of Coughlight, Fairview Gardens, Redwood, Woodward, Cherry Hill, Camdent, Riverbark, Prospect Ridge, Spencerville, Waukegan, the Prospect Heights Improvement Association, Prospect Heights Old Town, Sanitary District, and the Country Gardens Sanitary District.

Members of the Citizens Utility Company and the Fairview Gardens Utility Company which service parts of Prospect Heights with sewer and water facilities will not be invited to the meeting at this time, Kelly said.

Kelly seems to be in favor of incorporation if it would not cost the taxpayers more than they are now paying for services in the money. (It cost $140 last year for my utilities," Kelly said, "and I live in a community such as Park Ridge, my bill is about $100.")

"Kelly said the $80 difference might carry the cost of fire and police services, but residents will be informed of the results of the meeting as soon as the association executives can put the word out."

Attending the meeting will be:

before to incorporate Prospect Heights or let it be annexed to a neighboring municipality without success. Before Monday, Prospect Mayor David Congrove took office in 1964, Mayor Prospect Heights was taking little notice of the city's problems. At that time, however, Prospect Heights residents were not even asked to vote on the matter.

Monte Prospect. The matter never came to a sufficient vote, however.

Prospect Heights Improvement Association President, Robert Conner, explained that Monte Prospect would have to spend a large amount of money to give the new prospective services, constructing sewer and water lines.

"I HAVE secured the signatures of three-fourths of the 75 signatures and I hope to have the rest of them by tomorrow," McCabe said Monday.

Douglas Norman, a Democratic precinct agent in Arlington Heights, had ambitions to succeed Stavros, but did not stand a chance for the appointment, apparently, for two reasons.

He did not seem to have the support of the regular organization and he was a Republican until about a year ago.

THE MEETING, which will be held in Indian Grove School, will have limited space for interested persons, but residents will be informed of the results of the meeting as soon as the association executives can put the word out.

Bomb Dump 3 Miles From Downtown Hanoi

By United Press International

SAIGON — U.S. fighter-bombers today bombed two miles of suspected war goods within three miles of Hanoi and shot down at least two MIGs in dogfights over the North Vietnamese capital, a military spokesman reported.

U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderbolt routed in four hours in Thailand and hit the 91 aircraft buildings clustered in the city of Hanoi. The U.S. Air Force touched off a 15-minute bombing raid on the city, hitting both MIGs and commercial aircraft.

The planes carried by F4C Phantom jet took advantage of a break in the moonlight before returning to the base, which has become the greatest aerial success of the war. They ran into heavy anti-aircraft, surface to air SAM missiles, and waves of MIG fighters.

Classes throughout the district are now in session, and the flood of innovations is beginning to flow.

Dr. Campbell, superintendent of the district, said that the flood of innovations is beginning to flow.

"THE LANGUAGE lab, as a course of study, in the K-5 schools has been given up entirely this year," said Campbell. "In its place each teacher is using a teacher's guide which directs the instructor in the use of theory books, newspaper, film records and the dictionary as a means of increasing children's exposure to, and understanding of the structure of language."

DR. ROBERT TOPP, chief of the College of Education at the University of Illinois at Chicago, told the teachers that it should be the responsibility of a school system to introduce new concepts and new procedures.

"The school system should not be forced upon a good idea by a bad idea," he said. "The school system should not be forced upon a good idea by a bad idea."

School Architect's Job Is Never Done

BY JAY BONE
First in a Series

How do you design a school building around a concept of education?

Architect Fred Johnson, of Elk Grove Village, should know.

He's just been commissioned to build additions to John Jay School in Mount Prospect, and to Add. Richard S. Byrd School in Elk Grove Village.

He's doing this month in an addition at Brentwood School, in Des Plaines, and has finished additions at Devereaux and Einstein Schools there.

Other buildings he has been involved with in School District 59 are Grove Ridge, Ruyter, Dempster, Chestnut, and Forest View. And he will add the district's new administration office when a site has been selected.

CHANCES ARE, if you're a Rolling Meadows or Elk Grove resident, that you are living in a home Fred Johnson designed.

Since 1960, as a member of Del Bano and Associates, Chicago architectural firm, Johnson did most of the original planning and design for the basic Kimball Hill homes in Rolling Meadows, and the basic plans for Centers in Elk Grove Village.

Central Road School in Rolling Meadows was Johnson's design. So was the Ruyter Village Center. He supervised the construction of Queen of the Bozary, St. John the Evangelist in Streamwood, and St. Kamille's Church in Homewood Heights.

School architecture is always a delicate specialty for Johnson now.

"DESIGNING A school," he said, "starts basically with the needs of principals and teachers."

At Einstein School, where Johnson's addition was completed in September, principal Walter Baker wanted a new learning center combination and four additional classrooms.

In addition, Johnson said, everyone wanted a different design for the building's exterior—a change in mass and texture. Solutions, octagonal-shaped pools to change the entire concept of the school's design.

Johnson's extra room on a building means careful planning of heating, ventilating, electrical, and plumbing systems to avoid the most economical solution at the time. The radius, for instance, must be even but be of circular design, he said.

An architect may spend hours of hours designing a school building.

Johnson believes, for instance, that at attended about 25 meetings on the Einstein-Dempster project.

He made six or seven design sketches, changing each after he discussed teaching plans with staff.

time blocks which are multiples of 15 minutes, permitting periods of varying length. Junior high students already use several values, including more continuous periods of physical education facilities, fewer students in the classroom, longer time for students to eat, reduced traffic congestion in corridors and greater flexibility in scheduling lessons.

Teachers visiting the individual reading instruction laboratory observed the effect of individual instruction to many students at the same time. Although staff now emphasize has been giving help in slow reading, the advantages to rapid reading plans is proving to be just as important. Already there is more demand on the part of students for new training opportunities than the new facilities can handle.

Of the several hundred who have already taken the individual reading instruction course, not one who has not made important advances.

Students of the rapid readers have advanced to 700 words a minute, with 90 per cent comprehension.

Sees Reduction in Costs

Budget improvements of eight park sites in Arlington Heights mean a reduction in the amount needed for construction of the next park district referendum.

Thomas Thornton, superintendent of parks, told the Board of Park Commissioners Tuesday the present improvement program could mean a saving when the sites are fully improved.

Thornton said grading and seeding work on the park sites has been completed.

"ALL THE playground equipment is here but has not been installed and the baseball backstops have been ordered," he said.

He said 700 trees have been planted and its cost could be planned before the weather became too hot.

The trees—Austrian, Scotch and white pine—are being removed from the park district site at Palatine and Kennick and was purchased from the Baker Family Nursery.

Thornton said when the parks were ready for full improvement the additional $100,000 "work would be reduced."

PARKS SCHEDULED for improvements include the Palatine and Kennick sites, the Elementary School District 23 site on Palatine and Schenck Road, the Juliette Low School site and other neighborhood parks.

The night school and improvement program were in progress for full completion the August referendum, which is scheduled.

At that time, a total of 13 sites were scheduled for development.

members. Keeping within the budget was a factor in design.

Elaine's addition cost about $17 a square foot, Johnson said, though the building costs are going up to 10 per cent each year.

TO CUT DOWN on maintenance costs, a continuous session floor was chosen for the school's windows. It may be wise to spend more on the introduction of new materials that prove beneficial.

"Like Ruyter," he said, "Elaine's economical cut was sprayed on, and then sealed. It's much less costly to install, and works well, he said."

Cards Whip Falcons, Tie For MSL Football Crown

BY JIM MASEK

Arlington won the one it had to win Saturday and scrambled into a first place MSL-Sheridan League tie by whipping Forest View 24-3.

The first-up Cardinals took advantage of some Forest View mistakes to dig a deep hole which Forest View was unable to escape.

TWO BAD SNAPS from center gave the Cards five field positions and led to quick scores when PV drove 10-0 within the first five minutes of the game.

When a Falcon drive stalled at the 45 yard line, Co-Captain Bob Savage went back to punt. The ball sailed over his head as the punt from center went wild and, by the time Savage tracked it down, Arlington had a first down on the 10.

Three plays got the ball shoved yardage, but Keith Culbertson booted a field goal to give the Cards a 3-0 lead. After that, they never trailed.

Arlington took complete control minutes later on an identical Falcon mistake. At mid-field, Savage retreated to meet and again watched the ball sky over his head. Arlington got possession down Forest View territory and this time picked up the time.

From the 27, halfback Dean Schuster took a handoff from quarterback Todd Somers and fired to Jim Baumgartner for the TD. After Culbertson added the point, the Cards were ahead 10-0.

THE FALCONS caught their breath and came plugging back. An attack stalled, but Somers rebounded at the 17 yard line and John Calagione clearly pounced on the loose ball for Forest View.

Frank Westlake led two yards as he tried left end. Two passes by Mike Otto fell without doing damage and the Falcons were left in a punting situation with a fourth and 14. Again Savage retreated to kick. This time the snap was a fake and a drive to halfback Space Drescher for a first down at the Arlington 11.

Westlake took a yard over guard, but Drescher banged ahead for four yards. The second, Jim Daggett was called upon to kick. Daggett's field goal boot was accurate, giving the Falcons their only points of the day and bringing them up to 10-3.

The balance of the half evolved into a punt exchange and the buzzer sounded with the Cardinals fighting their way out of trouble at the 20.

ARLINGTON GOT the advantage of the second half kickoff. Six running plays and a pass from Somers to Schuster moved the ball to the PV 25. Somers let fly again, but this time Calagione stepped in from the Arlington receiver and ahead off the ball at the 20.

Otto ran a keeper for five yards and then gave Westlake an easy yard. Another Otto keeper gained right and a third picked up the first down at the 45. The Hibbler gained two yards off right end and Otto got three more in the same place. On up and play. Otto belatedly cocked his arm to throw, but Calagione severed him from the ball and then pounced on it at the 43, ending the Falcons' final penetration of Cardinal territory.

The teams exchanged punts as the quarter ended. Arlington controlling the ball at the Forest View 25.

CULBERTSON GAINED first down yardage at the 20. Halfback Dean Schuster gained three, but Somers was thrown for a yard loss on the next play. Meacham carried for three and Culbertson got four more and a first down at the right.

Somers got a yard and then Culbertson swept left end for the score. After Culbertson recovered, the Cards held a 17-3 lead with 6:30 to play in the game.

The Falcons took the kickoff, but were going to be single punts after gaining a single first down.

Culbertson ran for a first and on a mid-field, Schuster ran for a yard and then the game developed into a battle ball contest.

Somers dropped a handoff and Savage recovered for the score. After Forest View had lost five yards for being off side, Otto faked and fired into the hands of Schuster. With the Cards again in control, Somers handoff to Culbertson who fumbled. Tony Jungblut fished the ball out of the mire and PV again had possession—but not for long.

One fumbled on the next play and the Cards gathered in loose ball. They promptly marched into the end zone to round out scoring for the afternoon.

Somers cut off tackle for five yards and then swept left end for seven more. Culbertson got three off tackle. On a tackle-alike play, Somers fired to Don Seidel, who was faked at the three.

SCHUSTER RAN a keeper over right tackle for the final touchdown. Culbertson's kick was on the mark, giving Arlington a 24-3 lead with 33 seconds to play.

Forest View got the kickoff, but, on the first play from scrimmage, Culbertson intercepted an Al Ernst pass.

The Cards let the clock run out before setting off another play.

The win gives the Cardinals their second Mid-Sheridan championship in as many years in the league. Last year, they went undefeated in taking the crown for their own. Forest View has its first championship. Its previous best was a third place finish in 1965.

NOVEMBER

Defensive end Mark Ernst dumps Arlington quarterback Todd Somers during the Cards' 24-3 drubbing of Forest View. Carl Hill Harris (66) and Falcon Kevin Powers (70) trail the play.

Conant Stops Grens, 7-6; Takes 5th Place

half after that was a Conant advance to Elk Grove's 34 on a 21-yard Johnson-McGraw pass, but the Grens held them there.

Midway through the third quarter, the Grens finally generated some momentum, after taking over on downs at their 28. Two Paul-Kelley passes netted 44 yards, and then runs by Paul Oyle and Jim Hoffman netted three more, but two incomplete passes influenced the Grens to try a field goal, and Oyle's kick from the 32 was deflected, going out of bounds at the Cougar 15.

Elk Grove forced a break early in the last period, when Conant was pushed back to its 19 after Johnson was spotted for a six-yard loss and punter Chris Shawnee had to take a ten-yard setback after a bad snap.

Starting from Conant's 5, Hoffman and Paul picked up five in two carries, but the final lost three yards in two more cracks and the Cougar took over.

Even though Bort fumbled the ball right back to them on the next play, the Grens still couldn't score. A Paul's second-down pass was interrupted by Adams.

after a seven yard gain on a pass from Johnson, and it was on a third-down play from here that Paul and Kelley collaborated for Elk Grove's touchdowns.

After Oyle's extra point try was blocked, an Oyle kickoff recovered by Conant and a 15-yard penalty against Elk Grove Dick Mudge—who thought the Grens had come up with the kickoff—left the Cougar's on Elk Grove's 41.

When four minutes played into Conant three yards, the Grens got another chance, but four tries at long pass led to one loss and three non-receptions.

Landfill Site Purchase Approved by Trustees

James McCabe, right, new Wheeling Township Democratic Committeeman is congratulated by fellow James Stavros (center) and Walter F. Dahl, presiding judge of the juvenile division of the Cook County Circuit Court, after last night's meeting.

BY RICHARD CRABS

The Arlington Heights Village Board gave final approval Monday evening to the purchase of a large landfill site that will provide for the disposal of refuse for 15 to 18 years.

The 54.8 acre site, located south of Nichols Rd. at the south end of the village, is being acquired at a cost of $100,000. Use of the site for refuse disposal is expected to begin in 1970 and continue until 1987 to 1991.

Village Manager L. A. Hansen and his staff are now at work developing the program to make use of the new landfill. Yet to be decided is whether the landfill and garbage disposal operation will be handled by the village staff or placed in the hands of a contractor operator. A considerable amount of equipment must be secured before the operation begins.

The village board last evening considered the plan commission's recommendations for amendment to the zoning ordinance with respect to the parking of trailers and boats in residential areas. A large group of residents of the village attended the meeting of at least 15 miles. Savings realized are expected to be used to stabilize the village garbage collection fleet on the board.

The amendments recommended by the plan commission would require that only cars may stand in driveways or at other places on the property. Trucks would have to be placed in a garage.

Imports would be given classified as garbage. Boats or trailers stored in yards would have to be covered and screened from view.

CITIZENS speaking before the board asked that there be established a "grace" period for property owners who at present have no garage. There were suggestions that neighbors be given the responsibility of reporting violations in their neighborhood, but the trustee rejected this as being impractical.

After an hour's consideration of the amendment recommendation, the board voted to place the amendment over to the next meeting to be held on an ordinance. The trustee said that although he to the trustees, will be acted (Continued on Page 2)

Stavros Steps Down, McCabe Takes Over

By Charles Morawski

Thursdays James Stavros last night stepped down from the leadership of the Wheeling Township Democratic Organization and made James McCabe the new committeeman.

Stavros urged unity, foresaw the doom of those who think themselves bigger than the party, and told McCabe to prove himself by 1970 in order to receive the continued commitment support in the next election.

Stavros said he was giving the leadership because of his ill health. The 36-year-old former committeeman has spent 10 weeks in the hospital since February and expects to return to the hospital in March for a second operation to correct an internal disorder.

ABOUT HIS REIGN

Stavros said he thought it over very carefully and consulted the downtown leadership, meaning the Cook County organization. He said, however, that Richard J. Daley, chairman of the county committee, did not try to influence the choice of Stavros' replacement.

The precinct captains present last night voted a resolution declining McCabe's nomination, 65 to 2, according to figures released by the Democratic organization.

The two dissenting voters were Don Norman and Pat Henry Kane, both of Arlington Heights.

NORMAN had a personal interest in the position because he was leaving, but apparently the party's leadership favored McCabe.

McCabe praised Stavros for building the local party from 850 registered voters in 1958 to the approximately 4,500 at present.

McCabe said he will try to develop the party's following even more, to form a Young Democratic Organization and to strengthen the Women's Organization.

He said his ultimate goal would be to have a capsule for every block so that the party would be able to make the growing committee here.

McCabe was first a precinct captain for the Democratic party at the age of 23 and served eight years as committeeman of the Chicago 37th Ward in Austin, where he was born and raised.

THESE men founded the Young Democratic Organization and held a post in the executive committee of the Cook County Young Democratic Organization.

In 1966 McCabe ran against Republican GOP candidate Donald Rumsfeld in the southern district for U.S. Congress but was defeated. He has been a poet, a captain in Arlington Heights where he moved in 1962 with his wife Mary Kay and their six children.

REASONS for the advancement, preservation and maintenance of all protective covenants, easements and restrictions of property.

And to provide intelligent planning or investigation of the future of the community.

As Patrick Link, attorney for the Woodview Civic Assoc said "What this council should try to establish is Elavro leaders from Prospect Heights local organizations selected a pilot committee to form the first voluntary council in the area's history Monday night.

The committee of five, representing appropriate geographical areas, were appointed to set down bylaws for the newly-formed council.

The purpose of the council will be to plan and devise a means of utilizing the community to improve the residential community of the greater Prospect Heights.

Dist. 59 Postpones Boundary Decision

Dist. 59's board members agreed to go along with the recommendations made by its administration.

But at Monday night's meeting, it didn't.

Final vote on whether or not to make a boundary change proposal to Rolling Meadows-Palmer Dist. 15 on the Nike base site found Richard Stamm, Frank Orlino, and Charles Stucky voting "No," and Harry Peterson, Richard Heist and Wayne Little voting "Yes."

By the board's next meeting, Nov. 20, more information will have been given to members, regarding assessed valuation per child in the area. Plans for construction of housing on the Nike site, and apartment development in the vicinity.

PROPOSAL No. 1, recommended by St. D. Thomas, which the board would not make at this time, would have divided the Nike site into two districts, with the new suggested boundaries between the districts should be Nov. 15.

Thomas said that such a plan would put all the Nike site children into Dist. 59, and would have financial advantages for the Elk Grove district. It would also avoid having the boundary line run through the middle of eight homes in the Surrey Ridge West development.

PROPOSAL No. 2 never got discussed in detail by the Dist. 59 board. It was the administration's estimate map gation of a Dist. 59-Dist. 15 boundary change if Dist. 15 rejected the New Nike Rd. This one would have proposed that Dist. 59 move its boundary west to Highway 53.

A jump would take in the Rolling Meadows Industrial Center, approximately 500 apartments in a school development, and homes south of Central Rd. and east of Route 53.

Board member Richard Stamm said he'd like to see investigated in considerable detail.

How do these plans stand now between the two districts?

NO ONE is proposing a boundary change at the 20 meeting of Dist. 59. As Orlino said, "I don't think we can go to Dist. 15 with a board of 10."

Dist. 59 schools are Low, Ford, Dempsey, Jay, Holmes, Forest View Elementary, Devonshire, Einstein, Brewster, High Ridge, Knolls, and other Elk Grove buildings.

The first meeting was in the basement of home," he said, and he added proudly, "At that time we did not have any elected officials."

Stavros said he had been a captain in Arlington Heights where he moved in 1962 with his wife Mary Kay and their six children.

REASONS for the advancement, preservation and maintenance of all protective covenants, easements and restrictions of property.

And to provide intelligent planning or investigation of the future of the community.

As Patrick Link, attorney for the Woodview Civic Assoc said "What this council should try to establish is

Gripe Of The Day

Little Acre Comes Home

Dist. 59's little acre down by Justice Low School in Arlington Heights came home Monday night. The house was to be sold to a buyer by a bank from the Northwestern Mutual Health Association for $5,000.

Ideas for Shipshape Living

There must be a little of the pack rat in all of us. No matter how few niches there are in homes and apartments we all manage to stuff extra items away for future use. It takes a long time, though, for most to admit the time when that china figurines will shine at a party never seems to come. If this is true, why not give it away and let some other people use it as a dust collector?

Mature couples face the problem of weeding through things accumulated over many years. Those moving to smaller homes now that children are grown and in their own homes find there is little space to waste.

A MAJOR TROUBLE SPOT in a new home is the kitchen. Now is the time to put all those kitchen plans and ideas to work and really organize storage and work space.

This begins by making a list of possible needs for two kitchen designers (for help normally suggest you get rid of extra kitchenware as a starter. For example, a married daughter or niece will be delighted with a corn popper or waffle iron you no longer use. Logically, cooking for two takes smaller pots, casseroles and roasting pans.

Unless you plan to entertain large groups regularly, save valuable storage space by buying glass or metal silver pots, cooking pots and toaster ovens in a locker or basement. Or, give them to some well-to-do children. You can always borrow these utensils for the two or three times a year you use them.

YOU ALSO WILL WANT to minimize the inconvenience of stooping and climbing to reach food and equipment by storing them in specially designed units that keep them at your finger tips and in one spot. Turntables in several sizes are designed to fit in wall and built cabinet cases. There are slide-out drawer units for bare cabinet storage. These hold boxes, bottles out of view but still forward so you may reach them easily.

These drawers are of different widths and can be stacked to take advantage of wasted cabinet areas. Use dividers for kitchen drawers and racks to hold a maximum number of lids and pans, china and glassware in a minimum of space.

FRIENDS WHO HAVE always lived in apartments recommend those new at the life will find a pegboard a colorful wall decoration and one of the most convenient ways to keep all kinds of utensils at your fingertips. This fits the concept of taking some equipment out of drawers and cabinets to make more space for others. Keep knives and cooking cutlery on the wall right where you do your chopping, slicing and mixing.

The mature couple has reached a stage in life filled with great changes. Those who get organized early find more time to do things they like, such as hobbies, traveling and spending more time with the grandchildren.

Algonquin-Wilke Bldg. Site Has New Owners

By Charles Mendicino
Miller Builders are taking over the mammoth Ryan-Traspaal apartment-commercial-home complex planned for Algonquin and Wilke Rds. Miller will present the Algonquin-Wilke Plan Commission tonight with a plan for development of the site.

Miller Builders, a representative of the Ryan-Traspaal complex, said yesterday he could not say why Robert Ryan and Bennett Traspaal had sold the site.

He did say, though, that he has an entirely different development layout for the commission's consideration and that the use of land would remain the same, primarily apartment buildings with about 450 units.

The Ryan-Traspaal proposed development which included 450 apartment units, a service station and a two-story office building was conditionally approved by the plan commission on Aug. 10 and was referred to the village board of trustees.

It was placed on the board's agenda for consideration on Aug. 21 but the owners of the project requested continuation of the hearing until further notice.

They did not give an explanation for the requested delay either at that time or later and the development was never again presented to the trustees.

BECAUSE Miller Builders has undertaken the project, under a settlement with the Ryan-Traspaal estate.

Miller Builders said it was not sure when the project would be started.

Arlington To Way Ramps To Be Built in Spring

A subway interchange at Arlington Heights Rd. was approved Wednesday at a meeting of the Tollway Commission and the local Access Committee.

The commission did not receive what it considered adequate answers on the firm's plans to finance the proposed service station and the motel.

It was also discussed with information on the layout of the development.

The development had said they would construct nine four-story buildings containing a total of 405 apartments.

BUT THERE was incomplete information on the five lanes, the drainage and the 30-foot easement of the 30-acre apartment land.

Finally, most of the problems were ironed out but the recommendations for the future for proposed included some conditions to which the commission would object most strongly.

There would be no additional sidewalks to be installed by the developers, underground and surface improvements and a dedication of a park site.

Rooswell said that the commission had approved the project and a revised interchange.

Access Committee, chaired by Carl Meen of Arlington Heights, was formed to provide an Arlington Heights and Elk Grove Village interchange to relieve traffic congestion at the Elmhurst Rd. and Elk Grove Village intersection.

The early campaign originally was opposed by Donald R. Bensel, chairman of the Illinois Tollway Commission, who said the construction cost of the ramps and the interference with traffic flow on the toll road was an objection.

UNDER THE old road of the Access Committee, Dr. Carl Lanson, a professor of accounting at the University of Illinois Chicago Circle Campus, conducted a survey of 400 Arlington Heights motorists and 125 Elk Grove Village motorists.

It's a long way to the top of the ladder, but Arlington cross country team made it Saturday.

The Cards went to Urbana, edged Proviso West by a point and brought home a state championship trophy.

It was no accident that they won. Months of hard work late afternoons of pounding around the track when other kids were relaxing, went into the win. During the season, they ran distances of between nine and 14 miles every day to build their wind and to strengthen their leg muscles for the time when they most would be needed.

That time came Saturday and the long work paid off. Arlington whipped a fine Proviso team by the narrowest of margins, but the one point was all that was needed. The Cards have their first place trophy. Proviso had to settle for second.

IT'S A TRIBUTE to the dedication of the seven young who represented the school. Had they let up, had they backslidden the firm guidance of their coach, Bruce Sammont, might have dropped back to visit one place when showdown came.

But they didn't let up and now the state championships theirs.

This is the first cross country title for the school. Arlio teams have taken state championships in tennis, golf and gymnastics in previous years.

Eventually the team photo of Dave Dieters, Scott B. Rory, Casey, Short, Sexton, Tom Swanson, Per Hyven, Dave Marzalek will hang in the school's entrance foyer with the others. In coming years the team may become numerous and only the state championship will be remembered.

For now, we can all savor the taste of victory, but we ponder their dedication and sacrifices as well. For that is honor these fine young men.

SHOWING JUST how silly team against team ratings the Cards lost to Wheeling earlier in the season. Yet Forest View soundly thumped Wheeling just a week ago.

Hughes plunged across for the extra point.

On the 11th term, Mike Raymond broke loose for the National all-stars, setting up a 100-yard drive that would soundly defeat the Redskins. The desecrating conversion was run by Jim Hammann.

FUMBLES AND penalties kept either team from going ahead. Billy Higgins' fumble deep in the Redskins' territory to start off scoring threat. A Hughes-Robbie King TD pass was called back because of a penalty.

A first quarter touchdown run of 15 yards by Higgins from 20 yards out was enough for the American eight-year-olds to take a 7-0 lead. The Los Angeles Lancers' Lino Castro scampered for the extra point.

The National League, composed of players from the Los Angeles Wildcats, Spartans, Buckleys, Bolemakers and Panthers were led by halfback A. Wilson and tight end Steve Stevens. A defensive touchdown, (joining in 70 yards) was made by the Los Angeles Spartans.

Miller Builders Plan $7,500,000 Apartment Complex

By Charles Moravcsik

Surry Park is the new name of the five-building development at Algonquin and Willis Roads that was recently brought by Miller Builders.

A representative of Miller Builders last night told the Arlington Heights Plan Commission that Miller is planning a new apartment complex which is estimated to cost about $7.5 million.

Robert Ryan and Bennett Ryan have retained a part of the previously-proposed development, which is divided into commercial and single-family districts.

THE COMMERCIAL area is located along Algonquin Rd. and the residential area along the side of the Surry Park development.

Ryan and Bennett previously added the 30-acre piece of land zoned for apartment to Miller after the city had received the plan commission's conditional approval on their layout.

Miller Builders are planning to construct fewer buildings than the original amount of units, 432.

There would be seven four-story buildings featuring balconies and underground parking.

COMMISSIONER Sam Ryan said the plan commission's conditional approval of the project as it was approved last night.

"I am favorably impressed with the plan commission's conditional approval of the project," he said.

Miller Builders is the new owner of the 30-acre site zoned for apartments. A proposed complex of seven four-story buildings with underground parking may be built here by the developer at an estimated cost of $7.5 million. The Arlington Heights Plan Commission last night confirmed the buying on the project last Dec. 13.

Tranqui single-family dwelling district. Ryan and Bennett backed out of the project as it was approved last night.

The plan commission had conditionally approved it on Aug. 10 and the development was on the village board's agenda on Aug. 21 when the owners requested an indefinite postponement.

PROVISION for installation of sidewalks, adequate parking and financial backing of certain parts of the project were among problems that delayed approval of the Ryan-Bennett Development.

By the plan commission's conditional approval of the project, a number of commercial-home complex had been planned.

At the beginning of August, Ryan indicated he anticipated a possible change in plans.

The plan commission last night voted to wait for a decision on the Miller proposal at least until Dec. 13 meeting.

It is expected that at that time the developer will be able to answer the commission on demands for local improvements, and present approvals from the fire chief and the building commissioner.

All of this building will cost the taxpayer no more than one dollar per floor space. Annual assessed valuation is estimated, according to referendum committee chairman.

"Not only are we trying to maintain quality education for kids by providing buildings, but we are also trying to make our recruiting of teachers easier," Gibbs said. "Teachers of quality don't want to go into a teaching situation in a district with poor facilities and crowded classrooms."

Mental Health Clinic Still Homeless

BY LARRY WILLS

Members of the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Association, having been ousted by Arlington Heights in their search for a permanent site, are now encountering trouble in Mount Prospect.

After a meeting with Mayor Daniel Conroy and other village officials in October, association members began looking for a clinic location.

THE CLINIC, which is presently housed at Wagona Plaza, handles school children who are not working up to their ability, to have social problems, and some emotionally disturbed patients.

Mayor Conroy gave the association the warmest welcome at the October meeting, saying that he could only recommend the location for the clinic, but it would be up to the landowners to give the property.

The three sites suggested at that time were on Northwest Highway, between Dale and MacArthur; on Central between Kelly and Wagona, and the property at Busse and Algonquin.

"None of the three sites is really ideal," Miss Zura said in relation to the shape and size of the lots, "but at least, they are hard to get hold of."

Objections Go Unheard

A delegation of Westgate residents went to the plan commission last night to oppose a proposed apartment project at Campbell, Wilks and Sigwalt Sts., but the developer was adamant.

Robin Construction Co. has requested the rezoning of property behind the Westgate Shopping Center from commercial to apartments. Local residents are against the rezoning and they were reportedly ready to file a petition backed by about 100 people.

The public hearing on the rezoning was continued indefinitely.

Fourth in a series

Mr. Bill who lives in a downtown office is going spend Thanksgiving with his son in a suburb some 20 miles away.

This scenario in capitalism and materialism is a three-grade English textbook, was part of a test taken by Shaw's class at Wooding's Mark Twain School took last week.

All the children in her class took the test.

Most of them used pencil and paper.

Robert completed his on his Braille writer.

Although Robert, and eight other children at his school are blind, they are part of all the classes with sighted children—one of the special education programs that are a part of Northwest Suburban Special Education (NSSEO).

These blind pupils walk through the school halls alone, take care of their own money, and have gym classes right along with their sighted classmates.

Mrs. Laurel Denney, who runs the Mark Twain resource room program, works closely with their classroom teachers so that the children will learn to read and write Braille.

Another Mildred Tins says she's enthusiastic about having the opportunity to work with these children.

Over At River Trails Junior High School (Dist. 26)

In Mount Prospect, Miss Emily Cederberg is a resource Room teacher for children with learning disabilities. She has had intensive training in her field, and is certified by the Illinois State Department of Public Instruction.

A graduate of Illinois State University at Normal, Miss Cederberg did her practice teaching in Mount Prospect, Dist. 27 at Westbrook School.

Although she majored in special education, she's had experience with regular elementary teaching.

From 1964-66 she taught an Educable Mentally Handicapped (EMH) class at Euclid and Indian Grove Schools for Dist. 26. Then she returned to Illinois State University for her master's degree in special education.

The 16 CHILDREN she teaches come to her two hours a day for special help, either individually or in small groups. Otherwise, they are part of integrated classes in English, social studies, science, physical education, math and shop.

Each classroom teacher helps a child with learning disabilities! One way may be through close work with him, simple directions, careful explanation.

"Number your paper from one to ten," an English teacher may say a verb after each number.

A child whose problems include poor auditory perception may not be able to do this.

However, if the teacher can show him on the blackboard just what the music, help him counter his paper, so the first example with him and write a work or two to help him remember what they are—the child may be able to complete the quiz easily.

"IT'S IMPORTANT to remember that not all children who we say have learning disabilities may alike in their problems," emphasizes Mrs. Shirley Morris, NSSEO consultant in the field.

"We hope that we can help them by working with their disabilities, rather than only tutoring them in academic subjects."

"We'd like to help the child improve the discrepancies between his potential and his achievement. A child with learning disabilities has normal intelligence or above-normal."

HOW DOES a child who needs special education help get into one of the NSSEO programs?

Each program has different requirements, said Aron Dequine, special education director for Rolling Meadows, Palatine Dist. 15.

In an learning disabilities class, eligibility is determined by a staff conference of teacher, principal, nurse, social worker, and psychologist. Dequine said.

Dist. 15 does not use the resource room concept for its learning disabilities program but has set up three self-contained classrooms.

"For us," Dequine said, "we find that the resource provides more structure, more consistent a treatment for the child with learning disabilities than the regular classroom can afford."

Medical statements are necessary before a child enters programs for blind, deaf, partially sighted, hard of hearing, or physically handicapped.

"The information can help us decide what is best for the child," Dequine said.

Once the child has been accepted, it is up to the school district to refer the data to NSSEO for placement in the appropriate special education program.

DEQUINE SAID that 95 percent of the time, he has found parents co-operative, and looking for advice, guidance, and counseling.

"Always the child must come first," said Dequine—not the parents, or the teacher, or the school system. We must always keep in mind that it is best for the child."

NSSEO classes this year include resource room programs for blind children; 26 educable mentally handicapped programs; 20 trainable mentally handicapped classes; four resource rooms for partially hearing children.

TWENTY-THREE resource rooms for learning disabilities; three classroom programs for children with two resource rooms for hard-of-hearing children, four deaf classes, and a communications center in Arlington Heights.

Socks Eliminate Lint When Washing

Washing the laundry with "wool" socks! If cloths and sponges have bits of lint on the walls, try using nylon or Banan socks. Slip two of them into a pair of hands, pulling the lighter color on the outside. A bigger wash will keep the lint off the clothes, and even uses the pad for cleaning floor. Socks mark come off without abrasion.

HERE IS a good use for worn out socks. A mattress, ad can be covered on the sheet and slitted in place on the machine. Trim away the worn and unneeded part of the sheet and you now have a mattress cover fitting like new.

THE CHA-LARKS, 1966 Sweet Adelines second place international unit, will be featured at the "Around the World with Butterfield Harp" show to be held at the Veterans High School Saturday, Nov. 11 at 8 p.m. The Century Church Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. include women from the area. ## Speed Cooking Demonstration Cooking of the future, which is a reality today, will be featured in the Jewel Food Store at Randolph, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 9, 10 and 11. These cooking schools will be presented by Howard Myers, president of Micro-Matic Range Inc. Micro-Matic cooking differs from conventional techniques in that it transmits heat only to the food itself through molecular friction set up through contact with the food moisture. In conventional cooking, the heat is generated on the outside and conducted through until the food is cooked. The time element in the big variable, Micro-Matic cooking is not only rapid, but also eliminates shrinkage and the loss of valuable food elements through excessive heating.

A popular example of speed is in baking of a layer cake. First of all, only two-thirds the normal amount of butter are used since there is no water. And, the cake will bake to an even consistency in only 7 minutes. Other examples of tomorrow's cooking, practical today, are baking a loaf of bread in 35 minutes; an egg cooked in 5 minutes; a raw apple pie in 12 minutes; one pound of bacon, crisp and golden in 35 minutes; a 10-pound beef roast in 45 minutes; a 15-

To Distribute Diabetes Kits

Free diabetes test kits will be distributed by mothers of diabetic children in the Northwest suburban area during National Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 12 through Nov. 18 with the cooperation of Sun Drugs at Randhurst Shopping Center.

A special booth set up on the Mall near West's will be manned by mothers who are members of the Service Unit of the Diabetic Area of Greater Chicago. This booth will be open from 1 to 5 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 12 and during the week from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

These kits will also be available at Northwestern Community Hospital in Arlington Heights. This hospital and other institutions and companies have distributed these kits to all their employees which are to be used at home, then mailed to a laboratory for processing. All positive cases will be notified and if is suggested that the same be suggested to his private physician. The diabetes test kit is the most effective testing unit for screening entire families and large groups of people.

The need for diabetes detection and public education has increased. One American in 20 is either an actual diabetic or a potential diabetic. He may not have diabetes now but will develop it during his lifetime.

EACH YEAR the incidence of diabetes rises. Since 1950, diabetes has increased 95 per cent. It now ranks 7th in the list of fatal diseases. It is important to alert the public to the symptoms of diabetes (though one may have diabetes without overt symptoms): increase in thirst, constant hunger, frequent urination, loss of weight, easy tiring, changes in vision and slow healing of cuts and scratches. Undetected and uncontrolled diabetes can be serious.

The goal of the 1967 Diabetes Detection Drive is to persuade as many people as possible to be tested for diabetes. It is hoped that over 15,000 free diabetes test kits will be distributed to this area with the cooperation of local hospitals, pharmacies, industry and Randhurst Shopping Center. Be alert - be checked for diabetes now!

WHEELING: The Community of Involvement

Involvement has been the key word in the amazing progress in the village of Wheeling. Involvement nurtures participation which eventually breeds progress, the ultimate goal.

Spear-heading and co-ordinating the efforts and activities of all organizations and groups in Wheeling is the Community Council. Involvement in such civic groups as Rotary Club International, Lions Club, Amvets, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the various Women's Clubs has brought recognition to Wheeling in many forms. Only last year, Wheeling's Junior Women's Club placed first in the state in the area of service projects within its community. One of the major projects of the Club was the beginning of the Wheeling High School Scholarship Foundation which annually provides grants to graduates.

A voluntarily organized civic group is TORCH (The Organization Representing Community Hopes), which is made up of an active group of citizens from the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove-Prospect Heights areas interested in the development and growth of the community.

A major project of TORCH has been Title III, which has been allotted $325,000 in federal funds over a three-year period for educational, recreational and social service programs. Sponsor of the Title III program is Elementary District 21.

There are seven grade schools (public and Catholic), two junior high schools and one high school within the surrounding area within easy access. Teacher/student ratio in Wheeling schools is: elementary - 1 to 30; junior high - 1 to 26; and high school - 1 to 19.

Student involvement has reaped big rewards at Wheeling High School, which has just earned its fourth year of existence. An award-winning marching band, an all-American newspaper and winning athletic teams are just a few examples of successful and measurable student involvement.

The future looks just as bright as Wheeling's present and past. Prospects for a Town Center, Y.M.C.A., additional swimming pools and a Community Concert Series are in the crystal ball of Wheeling's future.

Announce $20 Million Development

The Winston-Muss Corp. will build a $20 million apartment and commercial development on the north side of Robling Rd. and Northwest Hwy. in Palestine.

Announcement of plans for the project were made by Joshua A. Muss, president of the midwest division of Winston-Muss.

To be built in two phases, the development will include 1,000 office buildings, each with more than 100 units, 100,000 square feet of shopping area, parking, and service station.

Willow Creek will be built on a 90-acre site with 30 acres devoted to a public park and a 10-acre lake. The first phase of the project will consist of office building, a 6-story apartment building, swimming pool and a recreational center.

Frank M. Fleck, vice president of the Great Lakes Mortgage Corp., has announced that his company, which is co-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., has approved the first phase financing in the amount of $4,500,000.

Architects for the Willow Creek development will be Solomon & Cordwell and A. Epstein and Sons.

IN ANNOUNCING plans for Willow Creek, Muss said that this new development is a significant step in the present building trend toward providing increased office and apartment space in suburban areas.

"It is our feeling that the growth pattern of the O'Hare complex and Fox Valley is just beginning, and that this will be the first of many major new high rise apartment commercial developments in the northwestern suburbs," he said.

Dominic P. Carlson, in charge of financing for Winston-Muss, pointed out that the Willow Creek reflects his firm's and the Great Lakes Mortgage Corp.'s confidence in a project of this kind.

He said this is the first time a major lender has participated in this type of planned apartment commercial development in this area.

THE WINSTON-MUSS CORP., which early this year announced that it would reveal plans for more than $100 million worth of building in the Chicago land area during 1967, has to date revealed plans for more than $60 million worth of building projects.

In March of 1967, the firm revealed plans for its third set of 518 homes in its Winston Hills development in Woodridge, valued at $15 million.

Three months later, in June, Winston-Muss unveiled plans for Winston Towers No. 3, a 250-apartment, 16-story high rise condominium project at Touhy and Kedzie Aves., value $7.5 million.

IN APRIL, the firm announced its plans for units 6 in its Winston Park Northwest development in Palatine, valued at $9 million.

In late August, plans for a $75 million housing development in Hoffman Estates was announced.

In mid-September, the firm opened Harding Ridge, its first development of custom homes in Palestine, a 472 home development of custom homes ranging in price from $35,000 to $50,000. Value of this project is $20 million.

Dial The Mood You Want

Now you can dial at dinner time to evoke a candlelight mood, an aura of intimacy.

It's hardly news in our pushbutton age that you have lighting effects at your fingertips which would have made Merlin look like an also-ran on Amateur Night.

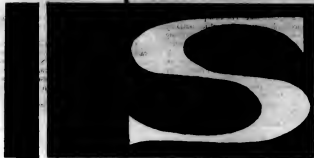

Whether you prefer the lovely romantic dimness of far-down lighting or need maximum brightness for a festive party or gay celebration, you are now able to just reach out a dainty finger and dial the lighting effect you want.

THE HANGING CENTRAL lighting fixture should not be suspended more than 30 to 32 inches above your table to provide correct lighting yet not intrude itself on the diners. While 40-watt bulbs afford enough light, without glare, you can go to 60-watt bulbs if you are a dimmer.

If you have a bracket holding lights or a wall sconce facing a mirror on the opposite wall, study the effect of full and dim light before you settle on the degree of dimness you will use.

Home to Home Adds 27th Office

John H. Sontag, Realtor and President of Home to Home, Inc., with office at 940 E. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect, has announced Extra-Costello Real Estate Co., 366 Virginia St., Crystal Lake, Ill., recently became the 27th Chicago area real estate firm to join Home to Home, Inc., a franchising firm designed for Realtors to render greater customer service.

John H. Sontag, owner of Sontag Realty in Mount Prospect, reports his new corporation, Home to Home, Inc., a real estate referral service, has now franchised its 27th real estate office in Chicago's suburbs.

Franchising their twenty-seventh office, Extra-Costello Real Estate Co. in Crystal Lake, said Sontag, "has completed a carefully planned network of Chicagoland real estate outlets to adequately service additional out of state referrals."

We are not a Multiple Listing Service where Realtor members exchange listings. Our members refer customers, primarily transferes, and people who have listed or sold their homes.

SONTAG REALTY holds membership in the M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service, as do 45 other real estate offices in this area. However, Fox Realty Co. is the only other Home to Home franchised office receiving these referrals within the M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service.

Sontag Realty has participated in $161,500 of referral sales in less than one year as a member of his own corporation. "Averaged, the anticipated referral sales dollar volume each of these Home to Home member offices will reach a half-a-million dollars in 1988," Sontag said. To accomplish their 1988 goal of half-a-million dollars per office, Home to Home, Inc., has undertaken the task of contacting real estate brokers in 37 states.

Hammers Do More Than Hit Nails

Hiting the nail is not enough. You can be done with a rock. But to drive a nail without bending it or marring the work surface, you need the right hammer properly used.

Hammers come in a variety of types, sizes, shapes and weights. The basic one is the claw hammer made of forged, hand-set steel. The handle can be wood or metal.

The basic claw has variations, though. A curved claw plus nails. A straight claw pulls nails and also separates boards that have been nailed together, or splits a board.

For all - around use, the curved claw is best. It has better balance and pulls nails easier.

HAMMER WEIGHT varies from five to 20 ounces. A light hammer is easier to lift but you will have to pound harder to drive a nail. One too heavy will tire you just from lifting it.

Left a few hammers before buying and see what feels comfortable. A 12-ounce hammer is good for light nailing but for driving large nails, go to 16 ounces or more.

Examine the hammer. Good hammers have a slightly domed surface, that is the face of the surface is higher at the center than the edges. A flat face can mar the work or bend the nail.

The claw should have sharp edges and form a pointed V.

AS WITH ALL TOOLS, buy the best. Get a hammer with a steel head, not one of cast iron.

If it has a wooden handle, make certain the wood is straight-grained. Avoid pointed handles since the point may cause flaws in the wood.

As you add to your tool collection, you will find that the claw hammer is fine for general carpentry but of little use for other jobs. Using one for tacks or brads can be frustrating. Get a tack hammer, preferably with a magnetized head.

A HEAVY BALL-PHEN hammer has no claw. It can be used as a light sledge for hand drilling in masonry. Sledges - are available in many weights for heavier work, such as with a cold chisel or wedge.

MALLETS OF WOOD, plastic or leather are used against soft or easily damaged surfaces. Use a wood mallet on wood chisels. The plastic or leather mallet is for metal, such as auto body work.

A loose handle makes a hammer a dangerous item. Remove the wedge in the eye of the head and replace with a larger one.

Examining the face of the hammer, if it is battered or chipped it will damage work surfaces. Throw it away.

No Slam Device For Cabinet Doors

Silent butlers we've heard of.

How about a silent doorman? For your kitchen cabinets, anyway? There's a compact easy-to-install device, which closes a cabinet door automatically without the usual slam; also eliminates the risk of bumping your head.

Adjustable closing speed means for safety and convenience, you can also set the item to hold the door open while you store things, etc. A set of two is priced at $19.98 at B.T.G. Associates, Inc., 104 W. 29th St., New York, N.Y.

Expressways Encourage Leap-Frog Building

Today's multi-lane expressways may have saved many densely-populated, top-heavy cities from collapsing upon themselves — and, in fact, these spreading expressways may be leading us toward a new, advantageous concept of "leap-frog" building.

This is the view of Neil L. Hunter, President, of Lancer Corp., a Chicago-based building firm which is currently developing the Carle and Roswell areas in southeast Schaumburg. Entrances to "Carle" is on Roselle Road, about two miles south of E. 72. "Roswell" is approximately the same distance south of 72, but a bit further east, on Plum Grove Road.

In a discussion of changing concepts and trends in home building and land development, Hunter said, "Contrary to predictions of a generation or two ago, the 'strip city' — that is, concentrated building and activity closely paralleling the main highways — has simply failed to appear. Instead, the new multiple-lane expressways have permitted people to leap-frog rapidly from one dispersal point to another, in all directions. And from these central, spaced-out dispersal Points, they fan out to their jobs, homes or to their other interests — with a minimum loss of time and, actually, with considerable convenience."

Hunter calls the trend the "leap-frog spacing" concept of developing modern residential, commercial and industrial areas.

HUNTER NOTED THAT, "Today, for every 1,000 families living in urban areas, over 1,500 families live in suburban areas."

Terming the auto the "prime mover" in shifting population trends, he said that the expressways permit high-speed travel between central growth points, frequently across many miles of urban, suburban or rural areas — then prompt dispersal to homes or other destination.

"The reward of such high-speed travel between main points, of course, is more time for the leisurely enjoyment of the homes and neighborhoods to be found there," said Hunter.

THE BUILDERS CALLED ATTENTION to certain statistics that nearly 20 million new housing units will be needed in the nation over the next ten years. To meet that need, he predicted the continued horizontal growth of residential building around the main dispersal points — contrasted with vertically-oriented vertical building, on a limited basis, in the same areas.

"But this will not mean crowding of homes and other buildings. On the contrary, it will demand careful open-space planning in each area — otherwise, the home-buying public just won't consider living in the area. That's why — in our own Lancer Park development, in a wide, green belt parkway right through the main part of the community. After using the expressways and highways to get to the dispersal points, we have wide roads, large lots, plenty of building and living room."

And we make a special point of having a wide, green belt parkway right through the main part of the community. After using the expressways and highways to get to the dispersal points, we have wide roads, large lots, plenty of building and living room."

Closed Windows Cause Problems

Those wintry blasts which usher in the cold season too often give the homeowner a "closed-window" reaction during the frigid months.

Windows and doors are logically the openings we all keep closed, but this naturally confines the water inside the house in the form of invisible water vapor.

When such "wet" air meets a cold surface, the air is cooled and the excess water condenses on the glass of your window or door.

MUCH CAN BE DONE to reduce this nuisance by getting rid of as much humidity as you can.

The twice-a-day routine will help with the condensation problem, just by opening windows at opposite ends of the house for about 10 minutes twice a day. This lets the moist air out.

You'll think of other ways: operate the kitchen exhaust fan when cooking; open the bathroom window after you've showered; and if you dry clothes indoors have the dryer vented to the outdoors.

Pill Timer

Time to take your medicine? Or give it?

No longer need you fear to forget the exact hour to dose yourself or a patient.

A new electric alarm clock — an independent timer to remind you of the proper interval. You can set it for four, six, 12 or 24 hours, knowing that at each 12 or 24 hours, a special Rx signalizer will appear on the top of the clock while an alarm bell keeps ringing until you come and push down the signal bar. The timer will automatically summon you again for the next "time for medicine." A medicine compartment of good size is built into the device to keep drugs safely under lock. Available for $14.95 from Westlock Division, General Time, La Salle, Ill.

Boxelder Bug, Annual Annoyance

BY STANLEY RACHESKY

The boxelder bug is the cause of considerable annoyance in the home during the fall, winter, and spring. During the summer these bugs live principally on boxelder trees, where they feed on seeds both on the ground and on the tree.

When cool weather comes in the fall, they migrate to buildings for protection.

They cluster on the sides of the house, crawling into any cracks and crevices they can find. Eventually they get into the walls, and on warm days during the winter they can be found outside on the south and west sides of the houses in the sun. However, many of them move into the house at the same time, and here they are a definite nuisance.

BOXELDER BUGS DO NOT feed on either food or cloth. Their main food is boxelder seeds. They do hibernate, upon curtains and wallpaper with local stability. There are two generations of bugs each year, but the completion of the second generation depends on temperatures in the summer and fall. The adults of the second generation are the ones that hibernate in and around the house. CAUTION! Eliminating all seed-bearing boxelder trees is a community-wide task to eliminate the boxelder bug problem. If it were possible to root out all cracks and crevices, we might be able to prevent most of the bugs from entering the house, but the job would have to be extremely thorough and some of them could still get in around the doors.

Insecticides just perhaps our best hope for practical control. Thoroughly spray the trunks and the ground around the trunks of seedbearing boxelder trees in the fall if these bugs are evident. In addition, spray the sides and foundation of the house and a 3-foot strip beside the house. In the winter and early spring, apply sprays to the bugs on the side of the house whenever necessary.

Lindane, 0.5 per cent spray, will give a quick kill. One-half pint of 20 per cent lindane concentrate in 2 1/2 gallons of water will make a 0.5 per cent lindane spray. This should be applied in the point of runoff. A 0.25 per cent spray of dieldrin, which is made by mixing 1/4 pint of 20 per cent concentrate in 2 gallons of water, will give good control. Application may have to be repeated at one to two week intervals.

In the home, bugs can most easily be controlled by picking them up with a vacuum cleaner and disposing of them. Pyrethrin household sprays give quick knockdown and kill, but sprays are warranted only in severe cases within the house.

No Plans for Winter Night Sulky Racing at Arlington, Says Mrs. Everett

Officials of Arlington Park, today said it was not receiving requests for winter night racing will be added to the Arlington Winter program next year.

Probably because the Illinois Racing Board is now studying the matter of racing date allocations for all Illinois tracks in 1968 and perhaps because the 1968 plans for the winter night racing are not yet formulated, there have been no requests for winter night racing at Arlington Park for several days that might have been made to the Illinois Racing Board.

The strike of delivery truck drivers here today, Thursday morning is in full swing.

It began as a surprise to everyone. "It was a real surprise to us as it was to the public," Union 705 member Joseph Piotrowski, 701 S. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, said.

Motors were parking near the Gas House delivery trucks after an hour of waiting.

Home-Building Booms To Arlington Record

Arlington Heights established a record for home building in 1967, with 4,320 homes built, according to the Arlington Heights Building Board.

Developers here had to wait the permit to Anthony Lemanski, a custom home builder, for a home in the Sherwood section of Arlington Heights.

Owners of the new house are Mr. and Mrs. James C. and Mrs. Mary C. and their two sons will move to Arlington Heights from Broadview, W. York on the Chicago home will begin next week.

Earlier this week, the Arlington Heights Building Board announced that the town's home building record for 1967 was 4,320 homes.

Juvenile Court Is LWV Topic

Members of the local League of Women Voters will discuss the pros and cons of decriminalizing the Juvenile Court at their next meeting next week and will attempt to reach agreement on whether the aims of the Juvenile Court constitution, treatment and rehabilitation - can best be served by one centralized court or by courts in various geographical locations.

The unit meetings will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. W. Eugene Harris, 303 E. Berkeley Dr. Mount Prospect, at 1:15 a.m. Tuesday at the Congressional Church, Kirkwood and Kaminist, Arlington Heights, and at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Albert Vidmar, 1232 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights. The hearing and pending discussion will be followed at all three meetings.

FOR SEVERAL years the LWV has conducted annual tours to the Juvenile Court. The tours also included the Arthur J. Andy Home for Children which provides housing for the child who requires a place to court hearing and pending disposition of his case.

League members have also studied the Juvenile Court Act in conjunction with their welfare studies. The question of possible decriminalization of the Court was added to the agenda agenda last spring when a Cook County LWV was formed. The opinions of all members in the country will be pooled and analyzed by the county league.

Mrs. W. Eugene Harris is the chairman of the Juvenile Court committee. Her committee includes: Mrs. Gerald Chapman of Arlington Heights; Mrs. Ralph W. Macintosh and Mrs. Harvey Baron of Mount Prospect; and Mrs. Ethel Lane of Oak Brook.

Victory Party Marks Success

A "Victory Party" for members of the local league of Women Voters will be held at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the home of Mrs. Ernest Bell, 1503 Cedar Lane, Mount Prospect. The party will mark the successful conclusion of the LWV's 1967 financial year.

The Arlington Heights League, which began its drive to save the local league of Women Voters, is planning for a total of 1967 to apply toward its anniversary service activities for the coming year.

Mrs. Harvey Baron, league finance chairman, announced that to date contributions received from individuals, business and professional people in the area now total $1,060.

The LWV, which in the past year has printed and distributed 10,000 copies of a Local Government Guide, conducted three candidate meetings and a legislative session, and is now making plans for more voter services in the citizens of the area.

Invitations to the party, which is catered by league members and their husbands, have been sent to members of the advisory committee which helped plan the fund drive. Included in the 15-member committee are: Dr. Edward H. Gilbert, Richard Cowen, John Stanton, David Hoyt, Joseph Schaeffer and Paul Kunkin of Arlington Heights; Dr. Frank C. Rogers, Richard J. Johnson, Max Ulrich, David C. Hanna and Robert Hladik of Mount Prospect; Kenneth Gill and Ronald Cole, Wheeling; Joseph E. L. Lital, Prospect Heights and John J. H. of Rolling Meadows.

MARIBETH GREFFIN of Mount Prospect and Mary Abraham of Rolling Meadows share the first prize that will be given away at "Autumn Silhouettes" contest, scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 14 at the school auditorium, 2500 Center St., Rolling Meadows. Ticket sale will be held by the school at 7-14-68.

Prospect Hts. Assn. Winning Favor

BY DIANNE CLEHMAN

The newly-formed united council of civic associations in Prospect Heights has received favorable response from the area residents.

A joint committee made up of 17 residents from various Prospect Heights civic associations held the initial organizational meeting Monday under the direction of Everett Kelly, president of the Euclid Lake civic assn.

Kelly had originally proposed the establishment of the council of associations to investigate the costs and benefits of the incorporation of Prospect Heights. The assn is presently the largest unit incorporated community in Illinois and is besieged with police, fire and utility service problems.

DURING the meeting, various representatives exchanged opinions and discussed common problems, and it was found that the council, if interested in the various civic groups, could also be a valuable instrument of communication between the associations.

"What it boils down to is a need for communication," said Dave Chapman, president of the Rainbow Ridge Homeowners Association, "it is important that the city hear at this end of the table knows what's happening to the city and the other end."

Patrick Link, attorney for the Northwestern Civic Association, said, "Let's keep this council a simple communication vehicle so we won't always have to fight individual battles."

Kelly was interested in how to stop costing which the residents did not want and at first seemed to think that incorporation might be the answer. He suggested the council consider being a corporation.

Robert Carter, president of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association, asked Kelly, "If you incorporate, how would this financially present unwanted zoning?"

Link added, "Prospect Heights has very little, if any industrial base to tax on, why go through all the exercise and expense if it won't work."

anyway? He suggested that a well-organized small group with a petition from residents and a well presented case to the city would be more valuable than a large mob.

"ONE must have a good method to make people interested in incorporation," said Carter, "and also police the petitioners to make sure they're not just people on the street."

Perhaps the idea of incorporation is too premature and we should investigate it further or drop it," Kelly added.

After a lengthy discussion and some minor problems, the group unanimously voted to officially form the council and elected a committee of five to formulate the by-laws.

"Perhaps through this council some of our problems might be solved without the question of annexation or incorporation," said Mrs. William Carter, president of the Parkway Homeowners Assn., and the president and representative from Euclid Lake, Fairview Gardens, Rainbow Hill, Radwood, Riverhurst, Seaside Square, Whitcomb, Wolf-Moak, Woodview, and the Prospect Heights Improvement Assn. nodded in agreement.

Link added, "Prospect Heights has very little, if any industrial base to tax on, why go through all the exercise and expense if it won't work."
